Released German prisoners are said to be fighting with the Bolshevik army in Siberia.

The French submarine Diane, with a crew of 35, long overdue, has been given up as lost.

The price of wheat fixed at $2.20 a bushel is not likely to be increased in the agricultural bill.

Pay increases of 15 per cent for all employees of the postal service, recommended by the senate postoffice sub-committee in revising the post-office appropriation bill, were approved the full committee, which ordered the bill favorably reported. The increase does not apply to postmasters of the first, second or third classes, but obtains in the case of fourth class postmasters deprived of credit for stamp cancellations.

A serious interruption in the ship building at Baltimore was caused when 600 riveters, chippers, caulkers, reamers, and drillers left the hulls on which they were working in the yards of the Baltimore Drydock and Shipbuilding company. The men refused to work until a decision was rendered on their demand for $10.50 a day for riveting gangs of two men and a boy, all of whom are employed on what is called "allowance work." The present day scale for chippers and caulkers is $5.60 for eight hours with many men making greater sums in getting time and a half for overtime and double time for holidays and Sundays. Riveters make even more, working on piece rates.

BABY AND SOLDIER

7 TIMES MORE DANGEROUS TO BE FIRST YEAR INFANT THAN SOLDIER AT FRONT.

(By International News Service.)
St. Louis, March 20.—It's seven times more dangerous to be a baby in the first year of life than to be a soldier at the front, insofar as the probability of dying is concerned, according to A. H. Lehty, executive secretary of the Central Department, National War Work Council of the Young Men's Christian Association of the United States.
Out of 2,500,000 babies in their first year, 350,000 will die on an average, he said, while out of the same number of soldiers at the front 50,000 will die.
The life of a soldier at the front is only three times more dangerous than that of any citizen in some peaceful pursuit, he said. Out of 2,000,000 soldiers at the front, insured in London, an average of thirty in each 1,000 have been killed in the three years of war, he said. Deaths from natural causes were ten in each 1,000.

Several physicians came in from the county and entered into the work like veterans. These were Drs. S. H. Williams, Crofton; O. E. Wright, Kelly; E. L. Gates, Herndon; and G. W. Lovan, Crofton. The physicians assisting Dr. Rice were: Drs. F. P. Thomas, E. L. Gates, Austin Bell, T. W. Perkins, Frank H. Bassett, Oscar Fleenor, Manning Brown, S. H. Williams and O. E. Wright. ENTHUSIASM AROUSED

Among Ladies Of Civic League Over Proposition Of Cigar Factory

PLEDGE THEIR SUPPORT

Committee Of Ladies Will Inspect Paducah Plant At Once

The meeting at the Public Library yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock called by Chairman L. H. Davis of the Application Committee for cigar factory, was attended by a fine representation of the Civic League, the ministers of the churches, and a few business men. A large number of ladies entered into the discussion of the proposition of securing the necessary labor among the women and girls of the city, county and adjoining counties. The business men were asked many questions by the ladies who wanted to know. The ministers pledged their hearty support and were intensely enthusiastic.

The ladies all pledged their efforts toward securing the necessary applications to start the factory and at the request of the business men will send a committee of three from among their number to go to Paducah at once and inspect the cigar factory there and make a detailed report of labor, working conditions, health, morals, hours of labor, etc. In other words, the factory is to be inspected from a woman's point of view.

The committee selected to make this visit is composed of the following ladies: Miss Jennie Glass, Miss Mary Walker, and Mrs. W. T. Fowler. They will probably spend Friday in Paducah and will return soon after their return.

Let every man, woman and child get interested in this matter and put his or her whole effort into the proposition.

HOME GUARD COMPANIES

Will Be Organized Throughout State--Bill Passed By Legislature.

$35,000 IS APPROPRIATED

Hopkinsville Has Chance to Secure One of Several Companies.

Among the various and sundry bills passed Monday the Legislature was one carrying an appropriation of $35,000 for the organization and maintenance of a state militia, or Home Guard, during the period of the war. Some five or six companies will be organized and these will probably be distributed over the state at suitable and strategic points. Sometime back when the question of a Home Guard was being agitated the matter was brought to the attention of Adjutant General J. Tandy Ellis at Frankfort. Assurances were received at that time from the Adjutant General that the organization of Home Guards would be planned and set in motion just as soon as a law could be passed authorizing same and funds for maintenance provided. This has been done and the organization will likely begin at an early date.

It is the opinion of the Adjutant General that Hopkinsville would be a good point for the location of a company and that this city and county is capable of furnishing a first class lot of men fit for a Home Guard.

These companies will be officered by ex-veterans of the Spanish-American war and others of previous military experience. Hopkinsville can furnish the officers and the city and county have the men. Your cooperation will soon be asked to help secure a company for Hopkinsville; so be prepared to answer the call when it comes.

DUTCH SHIPS TAKEN OVER

Proclamation Issued by the President Directs Sec'y Of Navy Daniels.

4000,000 TONS OF SHIPPING

Will Come Under The Stars And Stripes This Morning

(By International News Service.)
Washington, March 20.—President Wilson tonight issued a proclamation directing Secretary of the Navy Daniels to take over all Dutch shipping in American ports. The ships will be manned and operated by the Navy and United States shipping board as may be deemed expedient. The owners will be fully compensated.

Under the proclamation, which was issued at 7 o'clock tonight, 400,000 tons of Dutch shipping within the territorial waters of the United States were taken over. At the same time similar action was taken by the allied governments on 200,000 tons of Dutch ships in their respective ports. Ships taken over by America will be immediately put into service in the most vital war work of the moment, getting men to France and food to allies. The Netherlands flag, tricolors of France and Italy will jackstays of vessels throughout the world, totaling 600,000 tons of sorely needed tonnage. Tomorrow morning the stars and stripes, the merchant ensign of England, and the tricolors of France and Italy will be hoisted in its place and the ships will start their service in democracy's cause. Tonight's action ended the grip of Germany on some of the finest ship tonnage in the world, held idle because of Germany's coercive measures against Holland. Pres. Wilson issued statement simultaneously with the proclamation reviewing the negotiations carried on with Holland for ships, pointing out Holland's final reply while in itself unacceptable, might under other conditions have served as a basis for further negotiations.

HE STILL LIVES.

Here's to the health and good wishes for Nebraska's foremost citizen—William Jennings Bryan—58 years old Tuesday! No, not old, but 58 years young. May he live long in years of active service. He will never die in the hearts and memories of his fellow man.

Until twenty-one years and nine months ago his name was fame (he had no fame) was hardly known outside the halls of Congress and the congressional districts in home state which he represented. Since the delivery of his "Crown-of-Thorns" speech in the National Convention in Chicago in 1896 he has never ceased to fight for democracy and on the side of right. His fame is not only national but international as well. Peerless orator and statesman that he is, he has commanded the largest audiences and excited the wildest enthusiasm. His voice has been heard from thousands of platforms and his auditors surpass these of any living man.

Mr. Bryan has been the most maligned man in public life. Notwithstanding almost every great daily news paper in the nation has opposed him for more than 20 years and at almost every turn, he has always had a tremendous personal following which has made him a national figure in matters of state and politics. Not only has Mr. Bryan been the most maligned man, but he is the most vindicated man of the present age. He has fought steadily forward for what he conceived to be right and has seen critic after critic and foe after foe fall to insignificance and sink to the depths of forgetfulness.

Bryan still lives. Practically every policy, every great reform, which he has championed has been adopted by the American people and enacted into law. His present great work is to free the nation of the evil of alcoholic liquor. In this he has succeeded in a phenomenal way. Twenty-six states have already adopted state-wide legislation. The national prohibition amendment has been ratified the same during the past ten weeks.

On Mr. Bryan's 58th birthday he was able to celebrate by opening in his home state, the campaign seeking to bring about the ratification of the national prohibition amendment by the Nebraska Legislature. In this we predict for him another victory and further vindication. Again we contend, and close by saying, Bryan still lives.

Germany has notified neutral Ambassadors that she will seize American property in Germany in retaliation for our seizures in this country. That will not be a paying game, since there is one hundred times as much German property here as there is American property in Germany.

Miss Esther Cleveland, daughter of the late Grover Cleveland, President of the United States, was married Thursday in Westminster Abbey to Captain W. S. Bosanquet, D. S. O., of the Goldstream Guards and son of Sir Albert Bosanquet. Miss Cleveland was born in the White House at Washington, in October, 1893, during the second administration of her father.

The British who in addition to numerous air raids behind the lines, bombing points of vantage and indulging in fights in the air with enemy aviators, since October have carried out 255 flights or 38 raids into German territory. The important town of Mannheim has been their latest target, explosives bombs exceeding a ton in weight having been dropped there.

"Over the Top"

By An American Soldier
Who Went

ARTHUR GUY EMPEY
Machine Gunner Serving in France

(Copyright, 1917, by Arthur Guy Empey)

"You damned tank duds, I have been trying to raise you for fifteen minutes. What's the matter, are you asleep? (Just as if anyone could have slept in that infernal racket!) 'Never mind framing a nasty answer. Just listen.'

"Are you game for putting something over on the Boches and Old Pepper all in one?"

"I answered that I was game enough when it came to putting it over the Boches, but confessed that I had a weakening of the spine, even at the mention of Old Pepper's name.

"He came back with, 'It's so absurdly easy and simple that there is no chance of the old heathen rumbering it. Anyway, if we're caught, I'll take the blame.'

"Under these conditions I told him to spit out his scheme. It was so daring and simple that it took my breath away. This is what he proposed:

"If the Boches should use that road again, to send by the tap system the target and range. I had previously told him our captain talking out loud as if he were sending through orders. Well, if this happened, I was to send the dope to Cassell and he would transmit it to the battery commander as officially coming through the observation post. Then the battery would open up. Afterwards, during the investigation, Cassell would swear he received it direct. They would have to relieve him, because it was impossible from his post in the battery dugout to know that the road was being used at that time by the Germans. And also it was impossible for him to give the target, range and degrees. You know a battery chart is not passed around among the men like a newspaper from Blighty. From him the investigation would go to the observation post, and the observing officer could truthfully swear that I had not sent the message by 'phone, and that no orders to fire had been issued by him. The investigators would then be up in the air, we would be safe, the Boches would receive a good bashing, and we would get our own back on Old Pepper. It was too good to be true. I gleefully fell in with the scheme, and told Cassell I was his man.

"Then I waited with beating heart and watched the captain like a hawk. "He was beginning to fidget again and was drumming on the sandbags with his feet. At last, turning to me, he said:

"Wilson, this army is a blankety blank washout. What's the use of having artillery if it is not allowed to fire? The government at home ought to be hanged with some of their red tape. It's through them that we have no shells."

"I answered, 'Yes, sir,' and started sending this opinion over the wire to Cassell, but the captain interrupted me with:

"Keep those infernal fingers still. What's the matter, getting the nerves? When I'm talking to you, pay attention."

"My heart sank. Supposing he had rumbled that tapping, then all would be up with our plan. I stopped drumming with my fingers and said:

"Beg your pardon, sir, just a habit with me."

"And a d—d silly one, too," he answered, turning to his glasses again, and I knew I was safe. He had not tumbled to the meaning of that tapping.

"All at once, without turning round, he exclaimed:

"Well, of all the nerve I've ever run across, this takes the cake. Those Boches are using that road again. Blind my eyes, this time it is a whole brigade of them, transports and all. What a pretty target for our '45's.' The beggars know that we won't fire. A d—d shame, I call it. Oh, just for a chance to turn D 238 loose on them."

"I was trembling with excitement. From repeated stolen glances at the captain's range chart, that road with its range was burned into my mind.

HAM SACKS.

Supply now on hand at Kentuckian office at 2 to 4 cents each.

"Over the wire I tapped, 'D 238 battery, Target 17, Range 6000, 3 degrees 30 minutes, left, salvo, fire.' Cassell O. K'd my message, and with the receiver pressed against my ear, I waited and listened. In a couple of minutes very faintly over the wire came the voice of our battery commander issuing the order: 'D 238 battery, Salvo! Fire!'

"Then a roar through the receiver as the four guns belched forth, a screaming and whistling overhead, and the shells were on their way.

"The captain jumped as if he were shot, and let out a great big expressive d—n, and eagerly turned his glasses in the direction of the German road. I also strained my eyes watching that target. Four black clouds of dust rose up right in the middle of the German column. Four direct hits—another record for D 238.

"The shells kept on whistling overhead, and I had counted twenty-four of them when the firing suddenly ceased. When the smoke and dust clouds lifted the destruction on that road was awful. Overturned limbers and guns, wagons smashed up, troops fleeing in all directions. The road and roadside were spotted all over with little field gray dots, the toll of our guns.

"The captain, in his excitement, had slipped off the sandbag, and was on his knees in the mud, the glass still at his eye. He was muttering to himself and slapping his thigh with his disengaged hand. At every slap a big round juicy cuss word would escape from his lips followed by:

"Good! Fine! Marvelous! Pretty Work! Direct hits all."

"Then he turned to me and shouted: 'Wilson, what do you think of it? Did you ever see the like of it in your life? D—n fine work, I call it.'

"Pretty soon a look of wonder stole over his face and he exclaimed: 'But who in h—l gave them the order to fire. Range and everything correct, too. I know I didn't. Wilson, did I give you any order for the battery to open up? Of course I didn't, did I?'

"I answered very emphatically, 'No, sir, you gave no command. Nothing went through this post. I am absolutely certain on that point, sir.'

"Of course nothing went through," he replied. Then his face fell, and he muttered out loud:

"But, by Jove, wait till Old Pepper gets wind of this. There'll be fur flying."

Just then Bombardier Cassell cut in on the wire:

"General's compliments to Captain A—. He directs that officer and signaller report at the double to brigade headquarters as soon as relieved. Relief now on the way."

"In an undertone to me, 'Keep a brass front, Wilson, and for God's sake, stick.' I answered with, 'Rely on me, mate,' but I was trembling all over.

"I gave the general's message to the captain, and started packing up.

"The relief arrived, and as we left the post the captain said:

"Now for the fireworks, and I know they'll be good and plenty. They were."

"When we arrived at the gun pits the battery commander, the sergeant major and Cassell were waiting for us. We fell in line and the funeral march to brigade headquarters started.

"Arriving at headquarters the battery commander was the first to be interviewed. This was behind closed doors. From the roaring and explosions of Old Pepper it sounded as if raw meat was being thrown to the lions. Cassell, later, described it as sounding like a bombing raid. In about two minutes the officer reappeared. The sweat was pouring from his forehead, and his face was the color of a beet. He was speechless. As he passed the captain he jerked his thumb in the direction of the lion's den and went out. Then the captain went in, and the lions were once again fed. The captain stayed about twenty minutes and came out. I couldn't see his face, but the drop in his shoulders was enough. He looked like a wet hen.

"The door of the general's room opened and Old Pepper stood in the doorway. With a roar he shouted:

"Which one of you is Cassell? D—n me, get your heels together when I speak! Come in here!"

"Cassell started to say, 'Yes sir.'

"But Old Pepper roared, 'Shut up!'

"Cassell came out in five minutes. He said nothing, but as he passed me he put his tongue into his cheek and winked, then, turning to the closed door, he stuck his thumb to his nose and left.

"Then the sergeant major's turn came. He didn't come out our way. Judging by the roaring, Old Pepper must have eaten him.

"When the door opened and the general beckoned to me, my knees started to play 'Home, Sweet Home' against each other.

"My interview was very short.

"Old Pepper glared at me when I entered, and then let loose.

"Of course you don't know anything about it. You're just like the rest. Ought to have a nursing bottle around your neck and a nipple in your teeth. Soldiers—by gad, you turn my stomach to look at you. Win this war, when England sends out such samples as I have in my brigade! Not likely! Now, sir, tell me what you don't know about this affair. Speak up, out with it. Don't be gaping at me like a fish. Spit it out."

"I stammered, 'Sir, I know absolutely nothing.'

"That's easy to see," he roared; "that stupid face tells me that. Shut up. Get out; but I think you are a d—d liar just the same. Back to your battery."

"I saluted and made my exit.

"That night the captain sent for us. With fear and trembling we went to his dugout. He was alone. After sa-

"A SPLENDID TONIC"

Says Hixson Lady Who, On Doctor's Advice, Took Cardui And Is Now Well.

Hixson, Tenn.—"About 10 years ago I was..." says Mrs. J. B. Gadd, of this place. "I suffered with a pain in my left side, could not sleep at night with this pain, always in the left side..."

My doctor told me to use Cardui. I took one bottle, which helped me and after my baby came, I was stronger and better, but the pain was still there.

I at first let it go, but began to get weak and in a run-down condition, so I decided to try some more Cardui, which I did.

This last Cardui which I took made me much better, in fact, cured me. It has been a number of years, still I have no return of this trouble.

I feel it was Cardui that cured me, and I recommend it as a splendid female tonic.

Don't allow yourself to become weak and run-down from womanly troubles. Take Cardui. It should surely help you, as it has so many thousands of other women in the past, 40 years. Headache, backache, sideache, nervousness, sleeplessness, tired-out feeling, are all signs of womanly trouble. Other women get relief by taking Cardui. Why not you? All druggists.

luting we stood at attention in front of him and waited. His say was short.

"Don't you two ever get it into your heads that Morse is a dead language. I've known it for years. The two of you had better get rid of that nervous habit of tapping transmitters; it's dangerous. That's all."

"We saluted, and were just going out the door of the dugout when the captain called up back and said:

"Smoke Goldflakes? Yes? Well, there are two tins of them on my table. Go back to the battery, and keep your tongues between your teeth. Understand?"

"We understood.

"For five weeks afterwards our battery did nothing but extra fatigues. We were satisfied and so were the men. It was worth it to put one over on Old Pepper, to say nothing of the injury caused to Fritz' feelings."

When Wilson had finished his story I looked up and the dugout was jammed. An artillery captain and two officers had also entered and stayed for the finish. Wilson spat out an enormous quid of tobacco, looked up, saw the captain, and got as red as a carnation. The captain smiled and left. Wilson whispered to me:

"Blime me, Yank, I see where I click for crucifixion. That captain is the same one that checked us Goldflakes in his dugout and here I have been 'chucking me weight about in his hearing.'"

Wilson never clicked his crucifixion. Quite a contrast to Wilson was another character in our brigade named Scott; we called him "Old Scotty" on account of his age. He was fifty-seven, although looking forty. "Old Scotty" had been born in the Northwest and had served in the Northwest Mounted police. He was a typical cowpuncher and Indian fighter and was a dead shot with the rifle, and took no pains to disguise this fact from us. He used to take care of his rifle as if it were a baby. In his spare moments you could always see him cleaning it or polishing the stock. Woe betide the man who by mistake happened to get hold of this rifle; he soon found out his error. Scott was as deaf as a mule, and it was amusing at parade to watch him in the manual of arms, slyly glancing out of the corner of his eye at the man next to him to see what the order was. How he passed the doctor was a mystery to us; he must have bluffed his way through, because he certainly was independent. Beside him the Fourth of July looked like Good Friday. He wore at the time a large sombrero, had a Mexican stock saddle over his shoulder, a lariat on his arm, and a "forty-five" hanging from his hip. Dumping this paraphernalia on the floor he went up to the recruiting officer and shouted: "I'm from America, west of the Rockies, and want to join your d—d army. I've got no use for a German and can shoot some. At Scotland Yard they turned me down; said I was deaf and so I am. I don't hanker to ship in with a d—d mud-crunching outfit, but the cavalry's full, so I guess this regiment's better than none, so trot out your papers and I'll sign 'em." He told them he was forty and slipped by. I was on recruiting service at the time he applied for enlistment.

It was Old Scotty's great ambition to be a sniper or "body snatcher," as Mr. Atkins calls it. The day that he was detailed as brigade sniper he celebrated his appointment by blowing the whole platoon to fags.

Being a Yank, Old Scotty took a liking to me and used to spin some great yarns about the plains, and the whole platoon would drink these in and ask for more. Ananias was a rookie compared with him.

The ex-plainman and discipline could not agree, but the officers all liked him, even if he was hard to manage, so when he was detailed as a sniper a sigh of relief went up from the officers' mess.

Old Scotty had the freedom of the brigade. He used to draw two or three days' rations and disappear with his glass, range finder and rifle, and we would see or hear no more of him until suddenly he would reappear with a couple of notches added to those already on the butt of his rifle. Every time he got a German it meant another notch. He was proud of these notches.

But after a few months Father Rheumatism got him and he was sent to Blighty; the air in the wake of his stretcher was blue with curses. Old Scotty surely could swear; some of his outbursts actually burned you.

No doubt, at this writing, he is "somewhere in Blighty" pussy footing it on a bridge or along the wall of some munition plant with the "G. R." or Home Defense corps.

The best barley brings as high as $3.60, while wheat is selling for approximately twenty cents less.

Step Lively! Corns Quit with "Geta-It"

The Great Corn-Loosener of the Age. Never Fails. Painless.

Watch my step! What's the use? I go along "right side up without care," even with corns, because I use "Geta-It," the painless, off-like-a-hanna-peel corn remover. I tried other ways before, until I was blue

Come Simply Can't Stop. We use "Geta-It" in the face and red in the toes. No more for me. Use "Geta-It." It never fails. Touch any corn or callus with two drops of "Geta-It," and "Geta-It" does the rest. It's a relief to be able to stop cutting corns, making them bleed, wrapping them up like packages and using sticky tape and salves. It removes any corn clear and clean, leaving the toe as smooth as your palm. You can wear those new shoes without pain, dance and be frisky on your feet. It's great to use "Geta-It." COST OF GROWING WHEAT.

Now that the Government has fixed the price of wheat, both for the 1917 and 1918 crops, the question of actual cost of production becomes more interesting than ever. What is the average cost of producing an acre of wheat? Is a price of approximately $2 a bushel too much? Let us see. A few years ago the cost of wheat was figured at from $10.50 to $12.50 an acre, with a few estimates running above or below these figures. That cost have greatly increased since the beginning of the European war all must admit.

In round numbers the cost of an acre of wheat averaging 15 bushels is now $20, with the changes for still greater cost in 1918.

Here are the figures showing acre cost of wheat in a leading winter wheat State: Man labor 12.8 hours at 15 cents an hour, $1.92; horse labor for 27.3 hours at 11 1/2 cents an hour, $3.14; interest at 6 per cent on $75 land, $4.50; taxes, 25 cents; upkeep, 30 cents; seed (1 1/2 bushels) at $2.25, $3.37; use of machinery, 80 cents; 1 1/2 pounds of twine at 17 cents, 26 cents; threshing-machine hire at 5 cents, 75 cents; coal, 15 cents; marketing, 80 cents; fertilizer, $4.00. Total $20.24.

That the figures are conservative appears upon the closest and most critical study. For instance, the first item, that of man labor, is certainly within reason. We very much doubt if farm labor can be had at 15 cents an hour. The same conservatism applies throughout, whether the item be cost of twine, thrashing bill, or taxes on land. Some may question the wisdom of figuring in fertilizer cost, as not all farmers use commercial fertilizers for wheat. This is quite true, but all wheat takes plant food from the soil.

A 15-bushel crop of wheat removes in the grain alone, 17.5 pounds of nitrogen, 2.25 pounds of phosphorus, and 4 pounds of potassium. Buy these ingredients and see how much you will have left out of $4.

So with a 15-bushel crop next year and with a price of $2 a bushel, the wheat grower may realize $9.75 an acre more than his wheat cost him, provided he has no bad luck. On a 40-acre crop this is $390. This is less than the price of a good team. Surely it is not too much when we remember that the wheat grower takes his chances against hail and storm, Hessian fly, and winter-killing.—Farm and Fireside.

How X-Ray Movies Are Taken.

Dr. E. L. Crusius of the New York X-Ray laboratories announces that in co-operation with a film company he has perfected a system for taking X-ray moving pictures which is expected to be of great service in treating injuries to the joints. A private exhibition for physicians and surgeons will be held, after which Doctor Crusius will lecture and demonstrate the process.

Among the pictures taken thus far are illustrations of the movements of the knee, ankle, and elbow. Doctor Crusius says that the photographs show not only the bones but the muscles, and that by moving a joint that has been injured and photographing the action of muscles and movements of bones it will be possible to find out just what parts have been injured and the treatment required.

A strict enforcement of the Sunday laws in Paducah is causing much complaint from those affected.

Among the rubber novelties recently introduced, is a watch protector which covers the case entirely except the dial. British Remove Their Guns, but Old "Scenery" Is Left Behind.

Major General O'Callaghan is responsible for a camouflage story that puts the reverse English, as it were, on the camouflage.

"Somewhere out there," he says, "I was looking over some artillery emplacements, and among others found a big 12-inch howitzer planted hard by a little farmhouse in a small orchard. It had apparently been there only a few days, and I asked the lieutenant in immediate charge to tell me about it."

"You see," explained the lieutenant, "we were over yonder half a mile in an excellent position, but the Boche got our range and strafed us something fierce the other afternoon. So I asked the major if we might move her down here. We got the engine up at midnight, the sappers laid down the rails in a little while, and we brought her here before daylight."

"You've got a good position here," I remarked, "but you don't seem to have done much by way of concealment."

"No," replied the subaltern, "we carefully left the camouflage in the old place; you will notice the Huns are still giving it a try."

"Oh," I said, getting the idea, "that's a new one; has it been tried before?"

"Yes, sir," replied the youngster, grinning blandly; "last week we took a 60-pounder out like that and the Boche has been wasting several tons of good shells on camouflage every day since."

JERSEY CATTLE SALE IN MAY

DECIDED UPON AT MEETING OF PURE BRED STOCK MEN YESTERDAY.

The meeting of breeders of pure bred stock, held at the H. B. M. A. yesterday afternoon, was attended by about 20 stock men.

The principal matter attended to was a decision to hold a Jersey cattle sale sometime between May 1st and 15th. It is believed that a big sale can be worked up and much impetus given to the breeding of Jersey cattle in the county.

The meeting appointed a committee to arrange for the sale, which consists of T. A. King, Chairman; Jos. E. Gary, C. L. Dade, E. A. Morris and J. F. Mason.

FOUND AN $8 BILL.

(By International News Service.)

W. H. Hinkle, a Knox county, Indiana, farmer while ransacking through some old papers that had come into the family forty years ago, found an old $8 bill, minted in Philadelphia Sept. 26, 1778. The following inscription was on the bill: "This bill entitles the bearer to eight Spanish milled dollars or the value thereof in gold or silver, according to a resolution passed by the continental congress." The bill was printed by Hall and Sellers, Philadelphia printers, and was a part of an issue of continental money used to pay the soldiers at Valley Forge and to help finance the revolution. On the back of the bill were three pine tree leaves,

PRINCESS TO-DAY.

Clara Kimball Young's current picture will be shown at the Princess Theatre today. It is a film adaptation of the well-known French play of the same name by Pierre Wolff, made by her own company under the direction of Emile Chautard and distributed by Select Pictures.

Fernande de Ferney (Clara Kimball Young), a charming little orphan, lives with her uncle, Professor de Ferney (Edward Kimball), an old friend of the Marquise de Monclars, whose estate is near the cottage of the Fernes.

Fernande soon realizes that her husband does not care for her, although she loves him passionately; and she decides to win his love.

Nifroilles (Alec Francis), a friend of Monclars, tells Fernande of a play he is to present, "The Marionettes," a puppet show dealing with a neglected wife, a lover, and a husband who realizes his wife's charms only after his jealousy is aroused.

How she adopts the methods of the wife in the puppet show and attracts a lover (Corliss Giles), and how the transformation of the country girl into a society butterfly accomplishes its purpose, make a thrilling photoplay and gives Miss Young an opportunity to display the high art of her emotional acting.

GARNER E. DALTON

Three Grains in the Hill

WITH THE

John Deere Corn Planter

Not three in one hill, or 2 in the next, and five in the third, but three grains in every hill, almost invariably. Accuracy in drop is the vital point about your corn planter. If you don't put it in the hill you won't make a good yield. The accuracy of the planter results in the farmer getting the best use out of all his land. You waste time cultivating a crop that is only half a stand. In addition to its accuracy, it is a durable planter, light draft and easy to handle. This planter furnished with open or closed wheels and with fertilizer attachment. Ask us for our free 36-page book, "More Corn and Better."

The John Deere Flexible Disc Harrow

To do GOOD work and be DURABLE seems to us strong points on the disc harrow question.

Good work demands a harrow that pulverizes the ground thoroughly, that cuts out the dead furrows, that adapts itself to any uneven condition of the ground. To be durable a harrow must have a STRONG FRAME, STEEL SHANKS, 7-8 GANG BOLTS, heavy gauge discs, and general construction throughout that leaves no room for question. The JOHN DEERE has these. If you are in the market for a Disc Harrow, be sure to see this harrow at our store.
